

Machine Gun M87 - 12.7x108 mm /.50 Browning

Machine gun M87 is a licensed product based on Soviet NSV, the best heavy machine gun ever made. It is a gas operated weapon, with sliding breech block as the locking system. The design of the machine gun provides reliable function, without stoppages, in all environments. Barrel is cold forged, with chrome plated interior, which provides long service life with unchanged ballistic characteristics. The barrel is disassembled from the machine gun quickly and easily, so in heavy duty it is possible to cool it quickly or replace it with the spare one.

Machine gun is fed from a belt, placed in the ammunition box with the capacity of 60 rounds. After firing, cartridge cases are ejected forward, which increases the safety of the shooter and the crew around him.

Flash hider on the muzzle disperses gun powder gas and reduces the flash, which masks the position of the weapon.
